TEN MEN DIE IN KENTUCKY MINE

Seventeen Other Miners Are Entombed.

PENPED UP IN THE ENTRIES

Falls of Slate Resulting From an Explosion of Gas Bring Death to Workmen—Eight of the Bodies Recovered, All of Them Horribly Mutilated—One Man Is Rescued Alive.

Drakesboro, Ky., Feb. 2.—Ten men are known to be dead and seventeen others are missing, presumed to be penned up in entries by falls of slate, as a result of a gas explosion in the Browder mine, one and one-half miles from Drakesboro.

Eight of the bodies have been recovered, all of them horribly mutilated. Four of the dead have been identified. One man was rescued alive, but is so badly burned that his recovery is doubtful.

Because of the accumulation of gases in the entry where the explosion occurred, 170 feet beneath the surface and 700 feet back from the mine shaft, it was impossible to begin active rescue work until six hours after the disaster.

The pit mouth presents a pitiful scene, with the shrieking wives of the dead and missing miners crowding about waiting reports from the rescuers.

The mine is not on fire and the fans are working. This gives rise to the hope that all the bodies may be recovered soon.

Mine Not Materially Damaged.

The damage to the mine, investigating parties have discovered, was not material and is confined to the east entry. There were 100 men in the mine at the time of the explosion. All except the unfortunate twenty-seven found their way to the shaft and were brought out to safety.

As soon as it was safe to begin with the rescue work miners were sent down in relays.

In the immediate vicinity of the explosion ten men had been working. The concussion tossed the bodies distances of many feet. The remaining missing men were in entries but a few feet distant from the workings where there was the greatest loss of life, and the searching parties have been unable to locate these entries. It is believed all the men entombed there are dead.

It is believed that the explosion was caused by a track repairer going into an abandoned room with an uncovered lamp, as the room is shattered almost to atoms and the body of the repairer is nowhere to be seen.

TWO ARE VICTIMS OF GAS

Minneapolis Men Overcome While They Slept.

Minneapolis, Feb. 2.—Illuminating gas killed an uncle and his nephew, the young man having gone to visit his uncle, and the older man having started the gas heater in a kindly endeavor to make the house more comfortable for his guest. Both were dead when their room was entered.

Gust Johnson, forty-three years old, 244 Fifteenth avenue south, was the uncle. There came to call on him Edward Carlson, twenty-three years old, his nephew. Carlson lived with his parents at 2817 Washington avenue north. It was his custom to visit his uncle weekly. Johnson was not at home, but the young man went to bed.

About midnight Johnson arrived. The room was rather chilly, and Johnson apparently thought it would add to comfort if he lighted a small gas heater. The flow of gas in the house is regulated by a quarter-in-the-slot meter, and Claus Freeberg, the land lord, says he heard Johnson, a little after midnight, in the basement, presumably putting a coin in the meter. Freeberg detected the odor of gas immediately upon awakening. He hurried to Johnson's room and found both men dead. The South Side police station was notified and Sergeant Andrew Nelson was sent to the house.

Deputy Coroner Carl M. Roan viewed the bodies and decided that death had been accidental.

CAUSE OF CANADIAN WRECK

Railroad Tracks Said to Be Laid Over Muskeg.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Feb. 2.—What may afford a possible clue as to the cause of the disastrous accident on the Canadian Pacific railroad near Webbwood, Ont., Jan. 21, when nearly sixty people lost their lives, is the testimony of Jerry Prue before the coroner's inquest now in session at Sudbury, Ont.

Prue was up to Jan. 2 section boss for the Canadian Pacific railroad at Narin for six years. His section included the territory under investigation by the crown. In his evidence he makes the following statement, relating to the condition of the roadbed on the Soo branch.

"Between mileage 36 and 38 the track was very hard to keep from spreading both in winter and in summer. There is a muskeg there."

INCREASED COST OF LIVING

Explained by President Schurman of Cornell.

Watertown, N. Y., Feb. 2.—As an explanation of the increasing cost of living President J. G. Schurman of Cornell university declared in an address before the New York State Grange here that the consumption of farm products is outrunning their production. President Schurman said: "Every one is concerned today about the advance in the cost of living. Some ascribe it to the increase in the world's production of gold with the resulting tendency to a universal increase in prices. The trusts are blamed for it by others. In our country there seems to be a set determination on the part of the government to destroy trusts which are monopolizing articles of universal consumption and raising the price on the consumer. And, of course, this is the only proper method to pursue. But it may well be that the causes of this increase in the cost of living lie deeper than are generally supposed. The population of the country is increasing. The consumption of farm products is outrunning their production and, as our unoccupied lands are now exhausted, it is costing more to produce articles of food than formerly.

"Look, for example, at the subject of beef. Cattle were formerly produced in vast numbers and at a comparatively small cost on great ranches. These ranches, however, have now been taken up by homesteaders. Ranching is therefore rapidly becoming a thing of the past. More and more in the future cattle will be supplied to the market from small herds owned by farmers. And, meanwhile, we stand between the era of ranching, which is passing away, and the era of stock raising on farms, which is not adequately developed to meet the needs of our increasing population."

RANSDELL PRAISES THE WATERWAYS BILL

Believes It Will Be the Best Ever Passed.

Washington, Feb. 2.—"I believe the river and harbor bill to be reported early in February will be the most comprehensive, businesslike and satisfactory bill ever passed by the rivers and harbors committee. In the words of the president it will be 'the inauguration of the new system of inland waterways.'" In these words Representative Joseph E. Ransdell of Louisiana, a member of the committee and president of the national rivers and harbors congress, set at rest rumors that have been flying about to the effect that the bill would fail to make generous provisions for projects now on the books of the engineering corps.

Early in the sessions of the committee, particularly since the committee has been in executive session, it became apparent that the members were generally in favor of making the river and harbor bill an annual one instead of biennial or triennial, as has been the practice for a number of years past. The members of the committee decided that the old time method of sporadic appropriations for special objects should give way to a more intelligent handling of the question of waterway improvements, and the bill which in all probability will be reported to the house early next month, will mark the beginning of a new order of things relative to waterways.

The bill will carry a provision for maintenance of rivers and harbors for only one year instead of two or three years, as formerly, and it will make a radical departure in fixing a time for the completion of projects which have the endorsement of the engineering corps. By this method the yearly character of the bill it is hoped will be established, for it will appropriate only for the current year and fix a limit for the completion of distinctive projects.

Stock Attacked by Rabies.

Monona, Ia., Feb. 2.—Eighteen head of cattle have died and many hogs and other animals are ill from the spread of rabies which came from a mad dog in December. Albert Sumak lost eight hogs, James Pepacek eight head of cattle, William Brown four hogs and Thomas Williams ten head of cattle. The farms and also all dogs in the township have been quarantined.

INSURGENTS AT WHITE HOUSE

Inform President Taft of Their Intentions.

FRIENDS OF ADMINISTRATION

Assure the Chief Executive That They Are Supporters of the Measures Advocated by Him—Now Believe That No Caucus Will Be Held for Purpose of Changing the Committee on Rules.

Washington, Feb. 2.—The fight between the regular and insurgent members of the house is now on. Both sides are trying to induce President Taft to line up on their particular side of the fence which separates the Cannon from the Hayes-Murdoch-Davis Gardiner flock. Each side is jockeying for position. The leaders of the insurgent faction have informed the president that they are the only real friends that the administration possesses in the lower house. They have told him, too, that the opposite faction was conceived of the devil, and that he cannot possibly do any business harnessing himself and the administration with that wing of the party in congress. The regulars have told Mr. Taft that if it were not for the insurgents the administration programme would have smooth sailing through the house.

The insurgents passed the buck to the regulars when Representative Hayes of California, one of the leaders of the anti-Cannonites, and Representative Gardiner of Massachusetts, who also leads at times, saw the president and told him that the time had arrived for all true insurgents to come to the aid of the administration. The two insurgent leaders and the president were pleased with the conference and after it was over the White House issued the following statement:

"The president received a visit from Messrs. Gardiner and Hayes, who had been appointed to call upon him as a committee at a meeting of the so-called insurgents of the house. Messrs. Gardiner and Hayes said they called on behalf of their associates to assure the president of their good will to ward him and their earnest desire to aid him in the passage of the postal savings bank bill, the conservation measures, the injunction bill, the interstate commerce bill, recommended by him in conformity with the pledges of the Republican party platform. The president was very much pleased with their assurances."

Reached by Unanimous Vote.

The insurgent meeting was so unheralded and so mysterious that it was not until hours afterward that it leaked out at the Capitol that there had been a gathering of the anti-Cannon clan. The decision of the conference, it was said, was reached by unanimous vote and it was the sense of the meeting that Representatives Hayes and Gardiner hurry to the White House to swear fealty to most of the administration programme, so that the president and the country might know that they were not attempting to hold up legislation.

Insurgent leaders rather felt that they had forced the hand of their regular brethren in legislation. It seemed evident to them that the regulars must come out with equally reassuring advances to the president and then the next step will be a settling down to work on the promises. But the insurgents scored first in the effort to show allegiance to the administration.

One thing seemed to have been accomplished by the insurgent gathering was the hushing up of talk of a caucus of Republicans on the proposed change in the method of selecting the committee on rules. The insurgents, it was said, will not seek to have such a caucus called and the regulars, however pro-Cannon they may be and however much they may love the present manner of choosing the members of his principal aid, the rules committee, are not likely to ask for a caucus where they would be compelled to go on record.

Fatally Hurt by Dynamite.

Marshalltown, Ia., Feb. 2.—Chris Wilking, sixty-five years old, was fatally injured by a delayed explosion of dynamite, which was being used to blast out stumps. One stick failed to go off. Wilking started to dig it out when the explosion occurred, ripping off part of his hand and arm.

Railway Taxes Increased.

Milwaukee, Feb. 2.—The state tax commission of Wisconsin has increased the assessment of railroad property in Wisconsin from $274,948,000 for the valuation of 1909, to $284,066,000 for 1910. The total taxes of the railroads for this year are $3,196,661.64, as against $3,142,886.73 last year.

Mother and Child Dead.

Washburn, Wis., Feb. 2.—Mrs. P. Behrante and family of five children were found poisoned at their burning home here. The mother was dead when found and one child has since died. The recovery of three of the other children is doubtful.

WILL MAKE INVESTIGATION

Committee to Probe High Cost of Living.

Washington, Feb. 2.—The cost of living in the United States is to be thoroughly inquired into by the house of representatives through its most powerful committee—the ways and means. Representative Payne of New York, chairman of that committee, introduced his resolution providing for an investigation along the broadest lines.

The committee is to inquire into any alleged increase in the cost of the necessities of life. Wholesale and retail rates of profit are to be investigated. The question of whether the high cost of living is covered in a general provision as to "whether prices are affected by any laws of the United States."

The hearings of the committee will be open to the public. It may sit anywhere in the United States and summon and swear witnesses.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANK BILL

Rough Road Ahead of the Measure in the Senate.

Washington, Feb. 2.—A rough sea is ahead for the postal savings bank bill in the senate. That it will pass ultimately is conceded pretty generally, although much depends on the attitude Senator Aldrich will assume towards the measure when he gets actively in control of the legislative programme in the senate. The senator returned to Washington from Florida much improved in health and has held a few conferences with leaders in the senate, but has not yet resumed his activities on the floor.

Friends of the postal savings measure say that the administration feels very confident that Senator Aldrich will espouse the bill after a few changes have been made to conform to his ideas and that his support will assure its passage.

North Dakota Man Safe.

Minot, N. D., Feb. 2.—A mysterious disappearance that has puzzled the Ward county officials since the middle of September was solved when a letter was received from R. L. Kruger, a Ward county farmer. Kruger came to Minot to buy repairs for his engine and his departure for home was the last seen of him. The letter was from Minnesota and said the missing man was on his way home.

Crushed to Death by Log.

Menominee, Mich., Feb. 2.—While attempting to help another driver get his horses out of a difficult position near Cedar River, Henry Beaulieu, twenty-four years old, was killed by a log falling off the load and crushing him. He leaves a young wife and child.

TAKES STEPS TO HELP FLOOD SUFFERERS

French Government Will Assist Small Merchants.

Paris, Feb. 2.—The height of the water at Point Royal is twenty-seven feet, three inches, a fall of nearly four feet from the highest point, and the flood continues to drop at the rate of about three-quarters of an inch an hour.

Premier Briand has instructed the prefects to make a complete inventory of the flooded areas and to appraise the individual losses, after which parliament will be asked for new credits in connection with the measures of relief.

Soldiers are still guarding many of the public buildings, and strong detachments have been sent to the various outlying districts to prevent the wholesale pillage which is still going on. A boat patrol surprised a band of apaches robbing a villa at Boulogne-sur-Seine. Two of the apaches were killed and the others were captured.

One of the most hopeful features of the situation is the action of the government in carrying into effect measures to enable the small proprietors, both in Paris and throughout the flooded districts of France, to re-establish themselves by means of loans, and to furnish work for the victims. The city council, following the lead of the national government, is arranging, with the co-operation of the savings institutions, to furnish money for the rebuilding of stores and houses and the furnishing of supplies.

The government has decided upon a general scheme of employment, whereby those who desire work may find it in repairing the roads and the public buildings throughout the devastated territory.

The municipal council has adopted the suggestion of presenting medals to those who have been conspicuous in the rescue work. These medals will bear the appropriate inscription "Fluctuat Nec Mergitur," which is the motto of Paris.

The students residing in the Latin quarter have formed a relief society, and have agreed to care for their few American comrades who suffered in any way in connection with the flood.

Bjornson's Condition Critical.

Paris, Feb. 2.—Bjornstjerne Bjornson, the famous Norwegian poet and novelist, is critically ill here. His two sons have been summoned to his bedside, one from Christiania and the other from Vienna.

CARELESSNESS WAS THE CAUSE

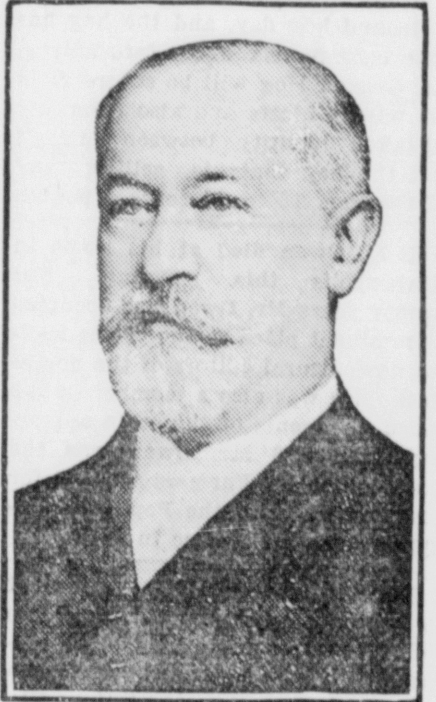

SCHIFF'S ADVICE TO JEWS.

Recommends That Jewish Immigrants Be Sent Into Western States.

Jacob H. Schiff, prominent Hebrew banker of New York city, told his fellow countrymen the other night that the most important problem with which they are confronted is "how to turn the tide of Jewish immigration from the Atlantic seaboard to the western coast and the great hinterland of the United States beyond the Mississippi."

Mr. Schiff was speaking before the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid society at its annual meeting in New York.

"The immigration of today is much different," continued Mr. Schiff, "from the immigration of years ago. I was surprised recently to see the stalwart, brawny men the Russian Jews are bringing to our shores, some of them without $24 in their pockets, but with capital in their bodies and their brains that belongs to the entire nation.

"It is for you to see that these future citizens go out from the great eastern cities to that spacious western country where the struggle for existence is not so keen. In that way you will relieve yourselves and prevent them from becoming burdens upon others."

Judge Leon Sanders, president of the society, advocated the establishment of kosher kitchens at Ellis island.

Real Cleverness.

EARL B. PINNEY PARDONED

North Dakota Man Liberated by President Taft.

Washington, Feb. 2.—An immediate pardon has been granted by President Taft to Earl B. Pinney, formerly United States commissioner at Minot, N. D., who was convicted of embezzling United States funds in June, 1903, and sentenced to imprisonment for ten years. The president granted the pardon on the ground that the sentence was excessive and that Pinney had served long enough for his offense.

Explosion of Fire Damp Killed Colorado Miners.

OFFICIALS DECLINE TO TALK

Refuse to Give Their Version of the Probable Cause of the Accident That Resulted in the Death of at Least Seventy-nine Men—Sole Survivor Unable to Make a Clear Statement of What Occurred.

Primero, Colo., Feb. 2.—The disaster in the main mine of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, which claimed the lives of at least seventy-nine men, was caused by an explosion of fire damp, according to a survivor of the catastrophe on Jan. 23, 1907, in the same mine, in which twenty-four lives were lost.

The same authority holds that the explosion was caused by the ignition of gas from a flame originated probably through carelessness of some miner in direct violation of mine rules, either through the cramping of a cap for a fuse, or the lighting of a match surreptitiously carried into the workings.

Officials refuse to give out any statement regarding the probable cause. However, they admit that some violation of mine rules will be found to be responsible.

The Primero mine is equipped with the most modern appliances, each miner carries a safety lamp and all are searched for matches before they are allowed to enter the workings.

Leonardo Virgen, a Mexican and the only surviving miner, who is supposed to have been working within a comparatively short distance of the point where the explosion originated, is unable to give a clear statement of what actually occurred.

Immediately following the report a column of dust and smoke poured out of the main entrance. Large pieces of timber were hurled more than 100 feet and so terrific was their force that a string of cars in the mine's mouth was blown off the track. The huge ventilating fans were at once put in operation and rescue parties were forced into the gas-filled workings. A huge cave-in at the mouth of the main slope blocked entrance at that point, but the rescuers followed the main ventilating shaft for several hundred yards, gaining entrance to the main slope through a crosscut.

First Evidence of Destruction.

When the relief party reached entry A-7, on the main slope, they found the first evidence of the destruction wrought. Here probably a dozen bodies were encountered, but the rescuers pushed on in the hope of finding signs of life. A little further on, near the mouth of entry A-8, the party came across Leonardo Virgen. As if waking from a deep sleep Virgen opened his eyes and said:

"Please, may I go home now?"

Virgen has sufficiently recovered to join the watchers around the main entrance. The situation in the workings continues unchanged. Relief work is being pushed by frequent changes of shifts, the rescuing party having reached entry No. 12-A, about seven-eighths of a mile from the mouth.

A check of bodies recovered reveals that forty-seven have been removed, leaving thirty-two still in the workings.

A large force of men was put to work digging graves in the cemeteries of Trinidad, where the bodies recovered will be buried. Nine Japanese miners recovered will be buried in the Catholic cemetery.

Coroner Guilfoill has impaneled a jury to begin an investigation of the catastrophe, and relatives and friends of the identified dead have turned their attention to preparations for their burial.

Orders were issued by the company to issue provisions to families of the victims. The scenes around the mine failed to indicate the magnitude of the disaster. The ground was roped off around the entrance and a force of deputy sheriffs kept the crowd back. Men, women and children among the watchers restrained their grief with amazing fortitude.

Three Persons Killed.

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 2.—A triple fatality occurred on the abandoned Canadian Pacific railway line between Lethbridge and MacLeod, Alta., when the bridge collapsed on which a work train was standing. A gang of men at the time were tearing a portion of the structure down and forty men were carried to the gully below, three foreigners being killed and Engineer Moore, Conductor McKillop and twenty others being badly injured.

No Prohibition Legislation.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 2.—Hope for prohibition legislation at the present session of the legislature was killed when by a vote of 16 to 14 the senate referred the Watkins county unit local option extension bill to the committee on religion and morals, which is admittedly adverse to the bill.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1910

Spring has arrived at Aitkin, the boys are playing marbles on the street there. Watch out for that robin, Bro. Hollister.

Reapportionment will undoubtedly be one of the subjects discussed at the Bemidji conference on February 17-18, and it is a subject that the whole northern part of the state is interested in.

The Dispatch has been selected by the county commissioners as the official paper for 1910, and in it will appear all the county business that is intended for publication, the proceedings, the tax list and the financial statement.

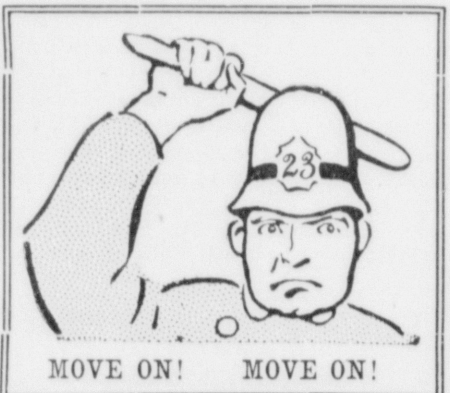

Ground hog day, and the hog has gone back for six weeks into hiding. Mr. Ground Hog will be secure from the wintry blasts and also from any mistaken identity between himself and the hog that is selling any where from 15 to 28 cents a pound.

S. M. Owen died at his home in Minneapolis this morning. For twenty years Mr. Owen has occupied a prominent place as one of the leading agricultural editors of the north-west. He was also a member of the board of regents of the state university. In 1890 Mr. Owen was the candidate of the Farmers Alliance for governor and was the Populist nominee for the same office in 1894.

The editors of the state will meet in annual session at Minneapolis on Feb. 17 and 18 and an elaborate programme is being planned for the entertainment of the association. The business meetings will be held in the ball room of the new Radisson hotel, and the banquet tendered by the Commercial Club will be given at the same place on the evening of the 17th. The meeting will probably be largely attended.

Duluth yesterday elected a democratic mayor and eleven out of the sixteen aldermen. M. B. Cullum, the new man at the helm of the city government is not a new man in politics as will be seen by the complete rout of the republican forces and the defeat of Mayor Haven. Frank Day immediately issued a bulletin at St. Paul predicting a victory for the democratic machine in the state this fall as a consequence, but "as goes Duluth so goes the state" has not yet been accepted as an infallible theory.

Every newspaper you pick up is shouting for good roads; every politician you meet tells you it is the salvation of the country; every prospective office seeker before he is questioned vouchsafes the information that he favors any legislation that will give the farmer good roads on which to haul his grain and other produce to market. Every farmer and business man at one time or another have gone on record as favoring these measures, and they pay the bulk of the taxes. Now why don't we get good roads with—or is everybody bluffing.

Editor McDonald, of the St. Cloud Times, and Editor Pease, of the Anoka Union, are the two oldest editors in the state. The former has been grinding out copy for his readers for 33 years and the latter for 44, and both are still hale and hearty and enjoying the profits and patronage from two of the best newspaper propositions in Minnesota, and that is saying a good deal for there are more paying newspapers in Minnesota compared with the population than any other state in the union. The "gang" in this state know the business from office boy to editor and know how every detail of the business should be conducted.

Cass county officials have been advocating the taxation of state lands where such lands return a revenue to the state, and where they are benefited by the building of roads by the counties. State Auditor Iverson in regard to the matter says:—"The only tax on state land," said Mr. Iverson, "is that levied by the state drainage commission, where the land is benefited by the digging of ditches. In such cases a proportion of the expense is borne by the state. I believe it would be advisable for the legislature to enact a similar law, making it possible to assess state lands for the building of roads which make the land accessible, but any direct tax such as that proposed by Mr. Hayner, would surely be unconstitutional."

The work on the new telephone exchange is progressing satisfactorily. The new switch board is being put in place, the cable work is all completed and wires are being strung from the "can-tops," where wires leave the cables to the various buildings. Another crew is also at work doing the inside wiring. Though being pushed rapidly the work is necessarily slow and it will be several weeks before the new exchange is in working order. It is reported that all or nearly all of the new telephones will be in place and connected with the new exchange before any are put in use. The shift when made, will it is said, take but a few hours.

Doan's Kidney Pills will do this for you.

They watch the kidneys and cure them when they're sick.

P. M. Bissler, 412 S. Twelfth St., Brainerd, Minn., says:—"I suffered from attacks of kidney trouble for some years. There was a lameness across the small of my back, which developed into a constant, dull ache and when the attacks were at their height, the kidney secretions became irregular in passage and deposited sediment. This was sufficient proof that my kidneys were disordered and when I heard Doan's Kidney Pills so highly recommended, I procured a box of a drug store. A local physician said that I could use nothing better. They entirely cured me and my experience has proven them to be a very effective remedy."

"Perfect Title" is guaranteed

Four words only, yet of the greatest importance. Few realize the number of "clouded titles" that exist in this, as well as other cities.

A good title is the first consideration with us in the disposal of a parcel of real estate. In fact, we have worked harder in some cases to get a "perfect title" than we did in selling the property, but our motto is

"Clear Title or No Sale"

We have had so many calls for city property of late that we have decided to give a few of our many offerings. City real estate has been quite active—especially in vacant lots—we are selling them in whole blocks.

We have something like sixty lots 50x140—nice and level—where one can get all the "elbow room" he wants—CHEAP. Prices ranging from $40.00 to $60.00 each—$10.00 down, balance monthly payments.

AFFIDAVITS ALLEGED PREJUDICE

Two Hundred Residents of Beltrami County Swore Fair Trial Was Impossible There

Judge McClenahan today made his order in the matter of a change of venue from Beltrami county in the case of Paul Fournier, charged with the murder of Aagot Dahl, in April 1904. There were over 200 affidavits filed claiming that it would be impossible to secure a fair and impartial trial in that county because of the wide interest taken in the crime. Chester McKusick, the county attorney of Beltrami county, filed a personal affidavit against a change, but filed no other affidavits and made no fight against the change. The request was granted and Fournier will be tried at Aitkin at the general term of the district court commencing May 17th next.

Did you see the ground hog today? If he came out he certainly saw his shadow and according to the old saying we will have at least six weeks more of winter. Had it been cloudy many would have lived in the uncertain hope of an early spring.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Played to Small House

The "Heir to the Hoorah" played to a very small house at the opera house Tuesday evening. The play is a comedy drama of considerable merit and was well played. Had it not followed so closely upon the heels of three top-notch shows it would doubtless have drawn a good crowd and given first class satisfaction. The drama is clean and the comedy amusing and well carried out.

It requires Nerve—to stand the strain of nervous neuralgia, pains in the face, head or any part of the body. These pains are quickly stopped by the use of Perry Davis' Pain-Killer. The relief is immediate and lasting. Do not suffer a moment longer but use the Painkiller as directed. Avoid substitutes, there is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'. Price 25c, 35c and 50c.

Hokara is the only massage cream that is an antiseptic, and pimples, eczema, and all skin blemishes soon disappear when it is used.

STATE LAND SALE

Annual Sale of State Lands will be held in Crow Wing County, May 6th, Next

J. F. Smart, county auditor, has received notice from the office of the state auditor that the annual sale of state lands will be held at the auditor's office, in the city of Brainerd, on Friday, May 6, 1910. The terms of sale are the same as at previous land sales. The land must bring at least the appraised price, which must not be less than $5 per acre. Fifteen per cent of the purchase price must be paid down, together with interest on the unpaid balance until June 1, 1911, at 6 per cent. Within five years after purchase the purchaser must do one of three things:

First—Fence 25 per cent of the land for pasture and use it therefor.
Second—Cultivate at least five per cent of the land.
Third—Erect a dwelling and actually live on the land at least twelve months.

The state reserves the mineral on all state lands sold. The last named provision will probably largely discourage the purchase of land in Crow Wing county, as few care to buy even for farm use, or pasture, with the possibility of a mining company leasing the minerals and coming onto the land to mine or explore.

THIN FOLKS MADE FAT

The Way Samose Works its Wonders Guaranteed by H. P. Dunn

More than half the readers of this would give almost anything to be plump and rosy instead of thin and scrawny.

Physicians and chemists for years have studied the problem of making a flesh-forming food, but it is only within the last few months that a bright man discovered the prescription that taken with the daily meals gave a positive increase in flesh. In fact it was so certain in its action that a guarantee was attached to each package stating that if weight did not increase as a result of using it, the purchase price would be refunded.

This preparation is now put up in convenient form for use under the name of Samose.

Taken with each meal, it enables the food you eat to assimilate with the system and that in connection with its own flesh forming and tissue building foods gives healthy flesh.

H. P. Dunn secured the agency in Brainerd for Samose, and as the percentage of satisfactory results from the use of this prescription is so nearly one hundred per cent he feels there is no risk in offering to refund the money if Samose does not do all that is claimed for it.

COMMISSIONERS PROCEEDINGS

Proceedings of the County Commissioners, Meeting Held February 1st, 1910

Commissioner Edquist made a report in regard to fixing the road in Section 26 Klondike town. He reported that it was not advisable to make all the improvements asked for, but a motion was made setting aside $75.00 to fix the road leading south from the old state road across the railroad track.

A motion was made and duly carried to set aside $3000.00 to be used on state highways the coming season, and the auditor was instructed to make formal application to the state highway commission for $1500 from that source, to aid in said work.

Requisition for supplies for the farm for next month was read and duly approved. The following report of the farm for January was read and placed on file:

Receipts by sale of wood and produce.....$382.02

Upon motion it was agreed to credit the farm 50 cents per day for keep of inmates instead of 40 cents as heretofore.

Bond of C. E. Wheeler, as manager of the farm in the sum of $500.00 with A. Purdy and C. E. Peabody as sureties was presented and duly approved.

A letter was read from E. B. Young whom the county is supporting for two months at the State sanatorium, reporting as to his progress at that place. The auditor was directed to notify his relatives that they should if possible make some provision for his maintenance at the end of that time.

Mr. Skau also presented the matter of a change in the established road through section 21 of that town in the neighborhood of the state fish hatchery. This matter was referred to the town board of Deerwood as being the proper parties to investigate the merits of the case.

Application of John Mattson for abatement of personal property assessment was recommended to the Minnesota tax commission on the ground that his real property was carried in the personal book by mistake.

Petition of William Eisner to be set off with his lands to-wit: The SW 1/4 of the NE 1/4 and the E 1/2 of the Northwest quarter section 20 township 136 range 28, from District No. 67 to District No. 52, came up for final hearing. UNTERMYER'S $775,000 FEE.

Lawyer's Compensation For Concluding Merger Between Big Companies.

The fact that Samuel Untermyer, the lawyer, had received a fee of $775,000 for his work in bringing about the merger between the Utah Copper company and the Boston Consolidated Mining company, finally completed the other night after dismissal of the injunction proceedings in the United States circuit court at Trenton, N. J., was the one topic of interest recently among lawyers in New York city. It was generally admitted that it is the largest fee ever received by a lawyer in a single case in the United States, probably in the world. Mr. Untermyer himself, however, would not talk about it.

"Is it true," he was asked, "that your fee of $775,000 is the largest ever received by a lawyer?"

"For obvious reasons," said Mr. Untermyer, with a satisfied smile, "I cannot discuss such a personal subject. Anyway, it is not a matter of public interest."

Inquiry brought out from other sources some interesting details regarding the work that Mr. Untermyer did for $775,000.

In the first place, it represented some three or four years' attention to the interests of the Boston Consolidated company, which is controlled by an English syndicate, and continued negotiations to bring about the consolidation which has at length gone through. As to the legal proceedings which immediately preceded it, there has seldom been a case before the courts which involved so much work in the preparation of papers. Three companies—one English and two American—were involved in the suit, and Mr. Untermyer represented all three.

Stops Colds and Coughing Quick

If you want to stop that cold right off and in the easiest kind of a way, just get a bottle of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. It's the largest selling Cold and Cough Medicine in the world because it stops coughs and colds quicker than any other known remedy or prescription, and it does that because it gets at the cause—kills the germs of cold—cuts the mucous and gets rid of it naturally.

It contains no habit forming drugs—nothing harmful—only real old fashioned pine-tar, sassafras, rhubarb, honey and other beneficial ingredients—all plainly stated on the bottle.

Made by the same known scientific process for the past twenty years. You ought to take Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey just as soon as you begin to feel "coldy"—just the minute your throat begins to tickle—then you'd save off these colds and coughs.

Keep it in the house—always ready—that's the right way. Every time you sneeze, shiver, "sniffle" or feel "full in the head" you need it.

At all druggists in 25c, 50c and $1 bottles. Children take it readily.

Look for our trade-mark (the bell) and Granny Metcalfe's picture on every bottle. That identifies genuine Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR

"They've got to be seen to be understood. A thousand poor tired wives an' white faced, spindly kids turned out into the country for the only glimpse of green grass an' shady trees they ever get all year. A thousand mothers an' children out in a cool grove with nothing to do but roll around the soft grass an' play an' eat all the fancy grub they can hold. Maybe, miss, it wouldn't mean a lot to you, but if you'd been workin' an' livin' an' sleepin' an' starvin' for twelve months in a stuffy, dark, smelly back tenement room, tootin' like a slave to keep food an' clothes betwixt the kids an' starvation, an' was barely able to keep body an' soul together—well, maybe then you'd understand what them outings an' turkey feasts an' loads of coal means to the poor. And they won't turn down Jimmy Phelan, at Horigan's orders."

"I had a surprise for you, Alwyn," interrupted his mother.

"I do understand," cried Dallas, her big eyes bright with tears. "I understand, and, in behalf of all women and children, I thank you with my whole heart."

"You're all right, miss," muttered the delighted, embarrassed Phelan, at once at a loss for words. "You're—you're all right! I'll leave it to his honor if—" "Indeed she is!" broke in a snave voice at whose sound the little spell of sentiment was broken and which caused Phelan and Bennett to turn in annoyance toward the door.

Scott Gibbs, bland, well groomed, quite ignoring the other men's lack of welcome, stood bowing on the threshold.

"Oh, I forgot to tell you, Alwyn," whispered Mrs. Bennett in a hurried aside to her son as the latter summoned up sufficient civility to greet the newcomer. "I forgot to tell you, Mr. Gibbs was calling on Dallas when I stopped for her, and he asked leave to come along. I'm sorry, but—" "How are you, Bennett?" Gibbs was saying. "And—Mr. Phelan, too, isn't it? Alderman, I'm glad to see you again. You remember me? Scott Gibbs? I met—"

"Yes," said Phelan, "I remember you, all right. You was up to Wainwright's last summer—that day me an' Horigan sent the dove of peace screetchin' up a tree. I didn't know you visited the city hall too."

"I don't, as a rule," answered Gibbs. "I came here with Mrs. Bennett and Miss Wainwright. I wanted a glimpse of the man who can make one pen stroke that will send Borough Street railway stock up to 100 or down to 10."

"Do you mean," broke in Dallas, "that Mr. Bennett can really have such an effect on the stock market?"

"That and more," Gibbs assured her. "Why, the mere rumor that he meant to veto the Borough's franchise bill has sent the stock tumbling eight points since the market opened today."

"What power for one man!" exclaimed the girl, turning to Bennett in surprise. "And are you going to veto it?"

"Office secrets," replied Alwyn jestingly. "Hands off!"

"Veto it?" echoed Gibbs, with a laugh. "Of course he isn't. It would be too hard upon his friends—unfair and unkind, to say the least."

"But why?" queried Dallas, forestalling Alwyn, who was about to speak. "Because," cut in Gibbs before Bennett could interfere, "the men who are backing the Borough bill are the men who made him mayor. It wouldn't be square for him to turn his new power against the very men who gave him that power. Now, would it?"

"By the men who are backing the bill?" whom do you mean?" asked Bennett.

"Oh, I just spoke in generalities. As a matter of fact, the break in the price today was lucky for those who wanted to buy."

"An' your firm's doin' most of the buyin', I'm told," interpolated Phelan.

"We have a great deal of the stock. I admit," said Gibbs; "so you see, Bennett, you can make me or break me. I place myself in your hands."

"I see you are taking a most unfair advantage of me, Mr. Gibbs," retorted Alwyn, with some heat. "You have no right to thrust this information on me and to appeal—"

"But I was only—" "You were trying to influence my action toward the Borough bill. You cannot do it."

"Why, I didn't think you'd be angry at—" "I'm not. Let's drop the subject, please."

"I only answered Miss Wainwright's questions. I—" "We'll leave Miss Wainwright's name out of the matter, please," replied Bennett.

"Certainly, if you like," assented Gibbs, with a shrug of his broad shoulders. "I am afraid my time is up. Good day, Bennett. I'm sorry you misconstrued—"

"I didn't. Good day."

THE HIGH PRICED FOOD QUESTION

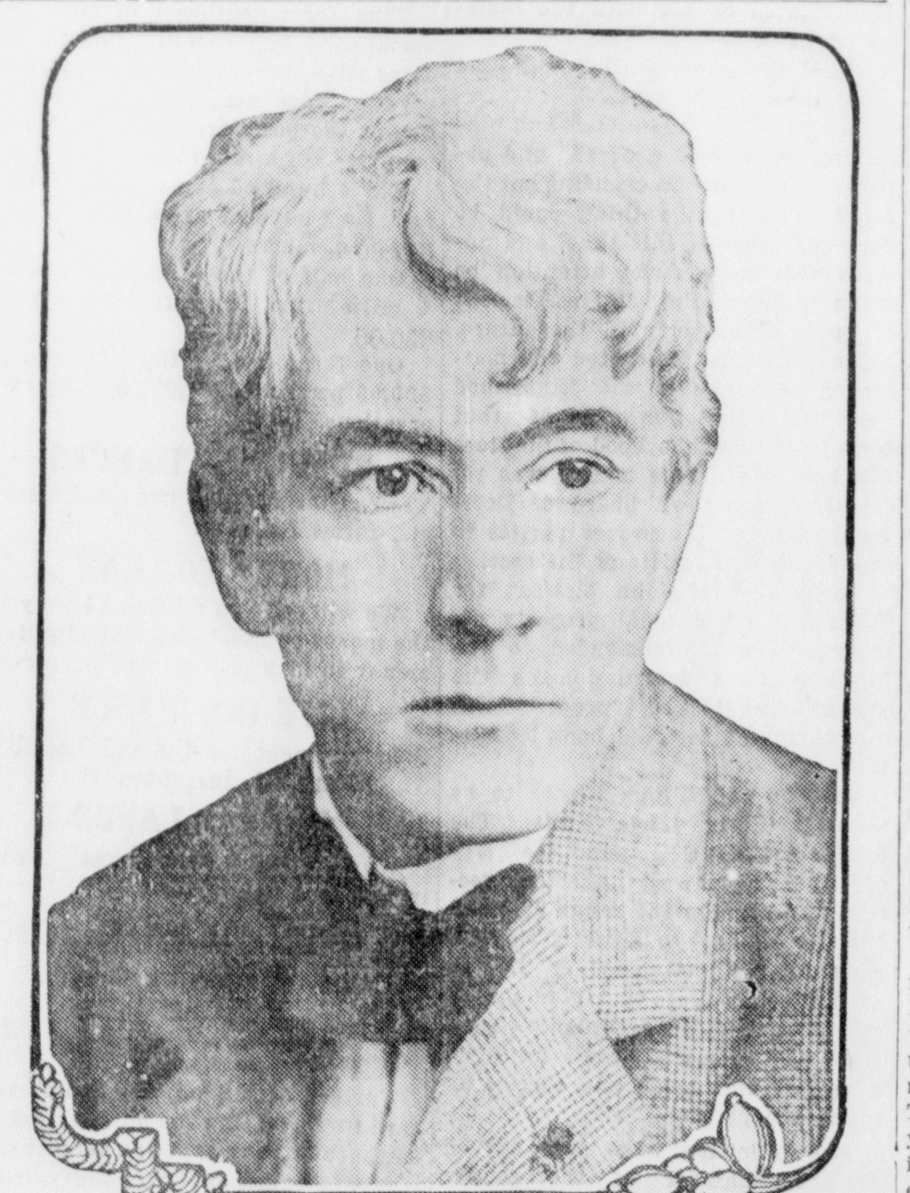

Effect of Measures Taken to Boycott Meat Sellers and to Find Out the Causes of Increased Cost of Living :: ::

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.

EVERYBODY is trying to hit the beef trust and to do it first. Take the Chicago prosecution, for example. Judge Kenesaw M. Landis says he started it and then the government tried to take it away from him. As for the boycott on high priced foods, it has spread so fast that everybody who cannot afford to buy beef and eggs is joining it. The startling thing is that it has only partially succeeded in reducing the price on these articles and has boosted that

A Study of the Outcome of the Beef Trust Investigation by Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, Who Fined Standard Oil $29,000,000 ::

It seems that the only thing left to do is to investigate. Investigating is perfectly safe since it never finds out anything vital and may save off matters until the people forget. But if there is an investigation let it be kept out of the hands of college professors, Congressmen are bad enough as investigators, but they are not a market to college professors. From this source have recently come some opinions as to the cause of high prices that are certainly the most astounding ever conceived by the brain of man.

JUDGE KENESAW M. LANDIS, PROBER OF THE BEEF TRUST.

of vegetables. The trusts are bound to get the ultimate consumer somewhere. If they cannot work him for 50 per cent profits on steaks and pot roasts they will elevate the market on breakfast food and canned beans. If, like Nebuchadnezzar, he is reduced to the grass diet the price of hay will go up. A Kansas City man eighty years of age says that he has cut out meat, lives on 10 cents a day and feels ten years younger. It must be that the trusts have overlooked him. He did wrong to advertise himself, for now they will discover that he lives on 10 cents a day and put up prices on him so that he will feel ten years older, which might be disastrous at his age.

Blaming It on Breakfast Foods.

For example, one professor says that the advance in beef is due to the breakfast food craze. That sort of logic would make Aristotle reassemble his dust and wildly break out of the grave. The particular pedagogic responsible for this startling idea thinks that many bushels of perfectly good corn have been wasted on breakfast foods that might have been fed to cattle and hogs; therefore the price of meat has gone up. Simply marvelous! The average man without learning would naturally suppose that the eating of oatmeal and baked bean would lessen the consumption of meat and hence lower the price; also he would be of opinion that very little corn is used in the manufacture of breakfast foods, which are mostly composed of wheat, oats, rice, sawdust or chopped alfalfa. Other professors have given out quite as remarkable views on the high price question—that is, if the newspapers do these learned men no wrong. Whatever may be said of giving tainted money to colleges, there is surely something tainted somewhere. It might be a prize idea for some of these institutions of higher education to establish chairs of common sense.

Fortunately Secretary of Agriculture Wilson has already been investigating the high prices question and has had some things to say thereon. Now, we all agree that Wilson is perhaps the most competent man in the country to conduct such an inquiry, and what he says will carry weight. First and foremost, he asserts that the farmer is getting but little if any more for his food products than he did ten years ago. This clears the atmosphere. We now have something tangible to work on. On this statement of fact his conclusion is unescapable that high prices are caused by the food trusts.

Landis After Them Again.

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis purposes to find out about one of these benevolent hoofs and horns, known as the beef trust. The administration has sent Wade Ellis to conduct the case, and Wade Ellis has come very near to busting a lot of trusts.

Judge Landis was born in 1866 and got his name from the fact that his father was shot full of holes at the battle of Kenesaw Mountain. Despite the name, the boy grew and thrived and in time came to be private secretary to Walter Q. Gresham. Then he studied law, was appointed a federal judge and fined the Standard Oil company $29,000,000, which made a great cry, but got little wool. In appearance Judge Landis is slight, wears his clothes any way that happens, has a keen face and a shock of white hair. Despite the fact that he is a dignified judge, he can put up a line of talk that snaps and crackles. I have never heard that trust busting runs in the Landis family, but officeholding does, three of the judge's brothers having served the esteemed public. One of them, Charles B. Landis, was formerly a congressman and was and is a Hoosier orator of the most resounding type.

It is a far cry from the Landis family to the price of steaks, and yet Kenesaw Mountain may be mixed up with steaks before he is done with the beef trust. What between Secretary Wilson, congress, President Taft, Judge Landis, Wade Ellis and a yelling chorus of boycotters the trust is liable to get something done to it, even if it is nothing more than having its wrist slapped.

The Suffragettes at It.

Boycotting the meat trust is like swearing off on New Year's—everybody does it and then takes a sneak and orders a nice juicy sirloin when nobody is looking. The suffragettes start out with a plea against beef and when a crowd is collected and properly wrought up slide in a demand of votes for women, all of which makes a man want to go out and bite something. It is like those nice stories we used to read leading up to a perfectly thrilling climax and winding up by advising everybody to take Gassazam's pills. That is nothing less than obtaining attention under false pretenses. Boycotting beef is all right, and talking suffrage is all right, but

Mrs. Housewife:—There's a Happy Medium in Everything

Anything that is overdone or underdone is not good. If you use the cheap and Big Can Kinds you are getting quantity at the sacrifice of quality. It cannot be as good — or as economical as Calumet — the medium price kind. If you use the High Price Kind, you are paying tribute to the Trust — the quality is no better.

Here's the "Full Value" in BAKING POWDER

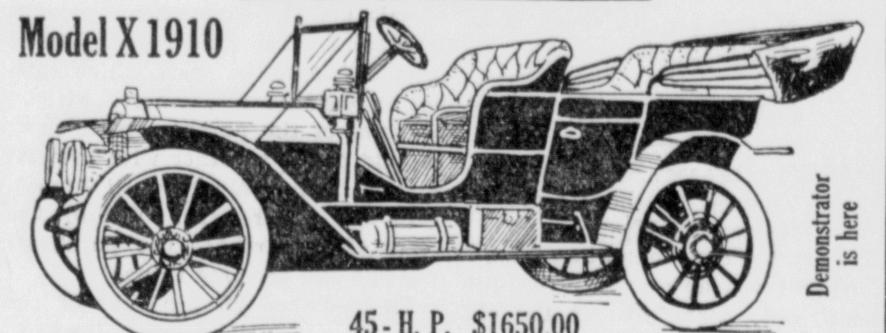

The Cheap and Big Can Kind
In this can you get more substance but not more baking powder. It is great in quantity only — not in economy — not in satisfaction.

The Medium Price Kind
Calumet, in the Standard 1 lb. can, sells at a moderate cost—but is great in all round satisfaction. You use less of it—it makes the baking lighter, purer — more delicious. Our baking will prove its superiority—try it. Ask your grocer and insist on Calumet. Free—large handbooks on baking. Send for one. Good in pounds and in tins.

The High Price Kind
Great in quality, little in quantity and the quality is no better — it is as good.

mixing the two is like selling soap at a church revival.

If the public would actually boycott some of these trusts it would only give them a dose of their own medicine and starve them out, as they have starved out the independent dealer. But will the statesmen start a few little fake investigations and the trusts out down a few cents in price, thus dissipating the people's indignation in order that a little later they may start the same old gouge game once more?

In the meantime let the investigators investigate, let the boycotters boycott and let Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis stir them up till they are red in the face. It all makes talk, and talk makes newspapers. The people grow hysterical and get over it, but the trusts grow fat forever. In the meantime one question is in order—After the fake investigations and futile boycotts are over will the American people be ready to do something?
